Cross and Scroll Elects R. A. Peck, As Chairman

Jay R. Massey, '60, chairman of the Cross and Scroll Society, announced the election of Raymond A. Peck, '61, as chairman, and Stanley J. Chojnacki, '61, as vice-chairman of the Society for next year.

In his announcement Massey said, "Mr. Peck's many abilities and imagination will contribute to the further success of the Society on the campus."

Peck is an A.B. English major from Bloomfield, N. J. He is a graduate of Regis High School in Manhattan. He is currently program director of WCHC. He is vice-president of the Young Republicans Club and co-author of the 1961 Senior Musical.

Chojnacki succeeds Peter H. Baker, '60, as vice-chairman. Chojnacki, a native of Milwaukee, Wisc., is a graduate of Marquette University High School in Milwaukee. His campus activities include membership in Alpha Sigma Nu and the Chicagoland Club. He is an A.B. history major.

The position of vice-president has been newly defined by constitutional amendment. He will be in immediate charge of the lecture series, the handling of all matters concerning the series in relation to the administration, the correspondence entailed in arranging the appearance of lecturers, and the planning of scheduling of the on-campus lecture series.

James J. Galdabini, '60, chairman of the election committee for new members, will conduct interviews next week. The Society anticipates accepting 16 Sophomores and Juniors. Announcement of the selections will be made on Wednesday, May 12.

Selection of members is based on interest in discussion topics, the ability to discuss ideas, and a broad background in the liberal arts.

Rev. G. Bissonnette Discusses Soviets, Foreign Diplomacy

On Tuesday, April 5, the IRC sponsored a discussion by Reverend George Bissonnette, A.A., on Soviet foreign policy in particular and current world problems in general.

He pointed out that the Soviet policy has made two changes in the past year. The first observation was that the Soviets are relying upon the personal approach at the summit meeting at the expense of normal diplomacy.

The second was that Premier Khrushchev has become more adamant and less flexible in his position on such issues as the Berlin crisis.

On the weekend of April 8-10, five members of the Holy Cross IRC attended the Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations General Assembly in Albany, N. Y. It had as its purpose to give college students an opportunity to develop international perspective and familiarity with the machinery of the United Nations. It took place at the State College of Education.

The HC delegates included William Luft, '60, and F. Bernard Forand, '61, president of the IRC.

Buckley Lectures, Fights Liberalism

Mr. William F. Buckley, Jr., editor of the conservative National Review magazine, delivered the last in this year's series of Cross and Scroll lectures last night in Kimball Hall.

Mr. Buckley discussed liberalism in education and by the end of the lecture and the question period he had thoroughly established himself as a noproponent of liberalism both in education and government.

He said that the struggle of the conservative elements in education to stem the tide of liberalism or progressivism had already concluded its first phase. Today, actually few people advocate progressive education in theory, or at least an advance in it.

Mr. Buckley stated, however, that with the first or theoretical phase won the more difficult, or political, phase was yet to be a realized success. This phase consists in actually dispossessing the progressives.

He synthesized the goals of progressivism as the acquisition of the tools of learning and the learning of the intellectual and historical exper-

Lausten is an A.B. economics major and an AFROTC student from Stamford, Conn. He was Junior chairman of this year's Military Ball and also Air Force chairman of the Blood Drive. He is a member of the Air Force Rifle Team, the K of C, and the CCD. His job will concern relations for the tour and also the programs.

Griffin's job as assistant music director consists in helping to conduct interviews and rehearsals. He is a B.S. English major from Belmont, Mass. He is a contributing editor of the Purple and a member of the Dramatic Society.

Mullen and Kevin J. Collins, producer of the Musical, chose these men through the interview system. Mullen said, "The interviews were very encouraging as far as interest in the Musical is concerned."

Sodality To Sponsor May Day Celebration In Fifth Annual HC Tribute To Our Lady

This coming Tuesday, May 3, the college Sodality will sponsor the fifth annual Holy Cross May Day Celebration in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

This traditional observance, the largest in the area, will consist of a procession to the gym, the coronation of Mary, and Mass.

The student body will assemble in the quadrangle at 4:20 p.m. The procession, which will begin at 4:30, will proceed down Linden Lane and then up the hill to the gym where the remainder of the ceremonies will take place.

Fr. Donaghy To Preach

First, John L. Connelly, '60, Sodality prefect, and Joseph L. Dorsey, president of the Senior Class, will crown a statue of Mary. Then Reverend Francis J. Hart, Student Counselor of Holy Cross, will say Mass. Very Reverend William A. Donaghy, S.J., president of Holy Cross, will preach at the Mass.

The student choir will sing at the Mass, and the students may receive Holy Communion.

Shane MacCarthy, Jr., '60, and Leo J. Dorsey, '62, are the co-chairmen of the affair.

Seniors, dressed in academic gowns, will lead the procession along Linden Lane. Members of the Knights of Columbus will serve as ushers at the Mass. The gym was chosen as a more feasible site this year than the baseball field, as in previous years.

The purpose of the May Day celebration is to help offset the celebration of May 1 by atheistic Communists.

Final Coffee Hour To Hear Christopher Dawson Lecture

John M. Greaney, '60, president of the Alpha Sigma Nu, announced this week that Christopher Dawson will address the society and its guests on Thursday, May 5, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Hanselman Lounge.

Professor Dawson, born in England in 1889, received his education at Winchester School and at Trinity College, Oxford, where he took his M.A. degree.

While Mr. Dawson's career has been primarily that of the interpretive scholar and writer, he served as Lecturer in the History of Culture at University College, Exeter, from 1930 until 1936 and was Forwood Lecturer in the Philosophy of Religion at the University of Liverpool in 1934. In 1947 and 1948 he delivered the Gifford Lectures at the University of Edinburgh.

Currently the English Catholic historian and author is the first Charles Chauncey Stillman Guest Professor of Roman Catholic Theological Studies at Harvard. The new chair, estab-

Stay Home, Yankee!

It seems a little strange that a college that exalts scholarly initiative would take pains to deprive its students of a scholarly opportunity. That such an opportunity is slipping quietly past is evident in the belittling fact that next year only two Holy Cross Juniors will study abroad.

Since shortly after World War II, the Institute for European Studies has been offering a program whereby promising students are enabled to "attend a foreign university, to travel and study in many parts of Europe, . . . and to mingle and live with Europeans." This plan, to which Holy Cross subscribes, is affiliated with the 600-year-old University of Vienna.

In order to make certain that her proteges are of adequate calibre, Holy Cross demands a high "B+" average as a prerequisite. Although such solicitude indubitably springs from the best of motives, it should be noted that the IES and the University itself require only a "C+" average. And it is by this standard that other American subscriber colleges are selecting their applicants. After a complete revision of our marking system, are we to believe that it takes a "B+" Crusader to compete with a "C+" student from BC? Rather than limiting the number of even potential applicants to those with a high Second Dean's List rating, the number could be more than doubled by adherence to the tried and proven criteria. Final selection would then be more perfectly based on character, European interest, and potential benefits to the student.

But even with the overly restricted requirement of grades, all obstacles are not removed: consider the choice of fields of study. With all students who intend to remain in the ROTC, pre-medical, and a number of other courses automatically eliminated, the number of potential applicants drops from 40 to 15. This difficulty is partly imposed by the IES and partly by Holy Cross. Since only a limited number of courses can be conducted in English, the courses available are to some extent limited. But our administration has again imposed arbitrary boundaries, beyond which no one may trespass. Thus it is only rarely that a student has been enrolled in any major except Modern Languages, History, and Political Science. It is here that the final cut is made, and we are left with only one or two "qualified" students.

But Heaven forbid that these students be scholarship holders, for then our representation would be zero. By a stroke of curious logic, it is believed that a student who wishes to study abroad can afford not only to relinquish his aid during his Junior year, but also during his Senior year back here. It is not within our domain to question the economic soundness of this policy, but it seems many students with school granted scholarships are precisely the type of persons who would profit most from a year abroad.

Actually, beyond the restrictions with which Holy Cross has stifled this program, there are still weaknesses inherent in the IES which make it inadequate for a school such as ours. It was mentioned that courses are for the most part conducted in English; exceptions are made for students who have sufficient mastery of the language, who may then matriculate in any course at the University. With all due respect to our Foreign Language Dept., we could no more propel a student of French into Viennese academic life, than a German student with no knowledge of English could be subjected to the esoteric terminology of a science course conducted in English. The natural conclusion would be to initiate a program whereby students of French and Spanish could attend universities in Paris or Madrid which have always clamored for American students. It has been proven that the academic standards in these countries are by no means inferior to those at Vienna, and moreover, that certain conditions in these other locations considerably reduce the somewhat prohibitive costs of a year in Vienna. Such an extension of foreign facilities is moreover entirely within our grasp, and calls only a confirmation of our alleged devotion to true scholarship and scholarly initiative. Rather than giving the appearance that we are hesitant to send a Cross man into European life, rather than forcing those who do not speak German into an atmosphere more fitting for a tourist than a student, it would be serving the highest ideals of this institution to accommodate a greater number of men, to study what they choose, and observe and appreciate the culture they will best understand. Not only will the individuals profit immensely, but with such an element and ideal existing on campus, our academic life could not help but to be enlivened.

Purple Open Letter To B.C. Offers Sincere Sympathy, Sensible Solution

My dear residents of Boston College:

It is with sincere sympathy that I have heard of the public embarrassment suffered by BC when your administration finally admitted to the newspapers that BC is no college at all. Although the announcement was couched in jesuitical phrasing designed to imply that BC is actually a university, I, however, well trained in this reasoning, read beyond the mute black type of the headlines. I now realize that Boston College is not only not a college, but not even in Boston! Indeed, the

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It was positively appalling to read the last edition of the Purple. I feel the Purple has deteriorated this year. This is demonstrated by both the quality of the work, especially in the verse (I will not call it poetry), and its inability to make even a quarterly appearance.

The Purple versifiers apparently have become so absorbed in the free verse motif, that in their attempt to create "pictorial" and "vivid" imagery, they have achieved the absurd, the incomprehensible, and the ridiculous. They have thrown out the traditional forms of rhyme and meter for senseless prosaic ramblings, set in pointless arrangement.

I make no pretensions to being a writer, but I address myself to those who have ability. I only hope there is an improvement next year in a magazine whose editors can spend $800 on a pretty cover, but refuse to devote the time to producing a quarterly of the caliber of the excellent monthly printed in past years.

John E. Cahill, '61

To the Editor:

One very often encounters the charge that modern youth, specifically college students, and even more specifically, Holy Cross students, confines its attention to a narrow campus and social sphere, punctuated with cynicism, selfishness, and that old recurrent bugaboo, apathy. I question the degree and amplitude of the validity of such a charge; however, without naivete, since Holy Cross students are not yet ready for blanket canonization.

This weekend Holy Cross students will act as hosts and "big brothers" to a large gathering of handicapped boys from Greater Worcester. Student response to this undertaking has been magnificent. In addition to the corps of "big brothers," many students have consented to participate in an entertainment program for these guests. Coincidentally with this activity, an even larger group of students will be conducting orphans from the Worcester area on a picnicking.

While both projects are under the general sponsorship of the college Sodality, in no way does it follow, nor does the writer wish to infer, that Sodalists alone devote time and energy to such generous undertakings. Many of the men who have been of great assistance to me in arranging the handicapped boys' day on campus have not been members of the Sodality.

To those that have, and who will, assist in both these undertakings, I offer hearty thanks and congratulations for a well-rounded and generous interest which extends beyond the proverbial narrow campus sphere.

Parenthetically, it might be provocative of some worth-while personal thought if students would take a look around on Sunday and see some young kids who have a tremendous physical handicap. Their spirit and resignation is moving.

Thomas J. Harrington, '60

embarrassment attendant upon such a blatant revelation of hypocrisy by your institution must have been traumatic for all the resident of Chestnut Hill. I want, therefore, to offer a suggestion to alleviate your discomfort.

But first, by way of precedent, may I remind you of a parallel in California. There, the University of California in Berkeley, and the University of California at Los Angeles, co-exist amicably sharing the same name. But since the University of Boston on Chestnut Hill is a bit demeaning, I offer this solution: Holy Cross University in Newton. H.C.U.N. would be both appropriate and mutually advantageous.

First, it is probably more helpful to you, because Boston College has for so long been considered a rotten borough, that the name of Holy Cross would be a sufficient raison-d'être for you to keep your charter from Massachusetts. Your institution (I won't call it a college if you won't) needs tone, and alliance with Holy Cross would lift you from the mire of puerility into the bright sunshine of academic maturity. To Holy Cross, however, the alliance might be a living example of the proverb, "He who lies down with dogs, etc.," but we are willing to risk our reputation. Holy Cross needs a prison camp for its restricted students, and beds for traveling Cross men. We need an institution to preserve revenue from expelled and unacceptable students. We could slough them off on you. In short, a course mutually advantageous is often wisest. Certainly association with Holy Cross could not fail to benefit you people above all. Sincerely,

Thomas Emoc Slab, Jr.

Queen Finalists Revealed As Prom Nears

SANDRA LAZZARI

EILEEN KIERNAN

SUSAN CALLAHAN

A week from tomorrow a lovely young lady will reign over "Make Mine Manhattan" as the Queen of the 1961 Junior Prom Weekend. A large number of photographs submitted by members of the Junior Class resulted in the selection of two of the finalists. The J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, the world's largest, selected these two. One of the photo finalists is Miss Eileen Kiernan of Georgetown Visitation Junior College in Washington, D. C. The 5' 1" freshman has brown hair and blue eyes and is the date of John T. Sinnott, '61, a fellow native of Chappaqua, N. Y. The J. Walter Thompson Agency picked another hometown combo when they selected Miss Susan Callahan of Newton, Mass., as another of the finalists. Her escort is William J. Kirk, Jr., '61, also of Newton, Mass. The 18-year-old freshman at Mount Saint Mary College in Hooksett, N. H., has hazel eyes, black hair, and stands 5' 4".

The Friday night dance will be the locale for the selection of three other Junior dates as the finalists in the Queen Contest. These three and the two selected from the photos, will appear at the Hotel Bancroft on Saturday afternoon, May 7, for the final judging.

Among the judges for the contest will be the mayor of Worcester, the Honorable James D. O'Brien; Francis Gill of the Francis Gill Model Agency in New York; Dr. Edward F. Callahan of the English Department; and Tommy Heinsohn, former Crusader basketball great and present star of the Boston Celtics.

Among the gifts presented to the Queen will be a Key to the City of Worcester. Mayor O'Brien will give the key to the lucky lady named Queen of the 1961 Junior Prom.

Even though only the dates of Juniors are eligible for the Queenship, J. Walter Thompson also selected two photographs from a large number of underclassmen's entries. These two girls will serve as members of the Queen's Court.

Miss Shaffer is a native of Flushing, N. Y. This 17-year-old New York model has auburn hair, brown eyes and is 5' 9" in height.

Miss Shaffer is the date of Conrad C. Heede, '62, of Bellport, N. Y. Miss Lazzari will accompany Kenneth W. Hopkins, '62, of Yonkers, N. Y.

The presentation of the Queen at the dance will be quite novel. In fact, it will be in a manner never before done at Holy Cross. The Queen will receive a miniature Holy Cross ring, a tiara, jewelry, a women's Cross blazer and other gifts. The court will also receive gifts.

Donald J. O'Meara, '61, chairman of the Junior Prom Queen Committee, extended gratitude to several benefactors of the Queen selection.

His first thanks went to the J. Walter Thompson Agency. He stated that this year the committee attempted to acquire an outstanding, well-known and impartial judge. They did this in the art directors of the Thompson Agency, which is located in Chicago.

Cross Sodality To Host Handicapped Area Boys

The Most Reverend Bernard J. Flanagan, L.D.D., Bishop of the Worcester Diocese, will be present at a Sodality-sponsored Day of Recollection for handicapped area boys and their fathers this Sunday. Thomas J. Harrington, '60, will serve as chairman of the event, which will take place on the campus.

Sodality leaders expect that some 50 boys will attend the day with their fathers. The youths involved are victims of polio, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy and the like.

A morning conference and meditation session for the boys will be in the lower chapel under the direction of Rev. Joseph J. Labran, S.J., Sodality Director. Their fathers will meet in a separate session in Carlin.

Bishop Flanagan will celebrate Mass at noon and, following this, there will be a dinner in Kimball Hall. There will be a program of entertainment featuring campus athletes and musicians in the afternoon.

A number of students, including non-Sodalists, will accompany the handicapped boys throughout the day. These men will act as "big brothers" to the guests.

ASN To Present Professor Dawson In Lecture Series

Mr. Dawson's printed works number nearly a score, among the best known of which are: The Age of the Gods, The Making of Europe, Enquiries into Religion and Culture, Medieval Religion, Beyond Politics, Religion and Culture, and Religion and the Rise of Western Culture — the two volumes of his Gifford Lectures.

Professor Dawson's address will conclude the society's series of coffee hour lectures for this year.

O'Brien Lists Officers Of Cross And Crucible

Gerald H. O'Brien, '60, president of the Cross and Crucible Society, announced this week that Eugene W. Lariviere, '61, will serve as president of the club for the forthcoming year.

Lariviere is a B.S. chemistry major from Manchester, N. H. In addition to his duties with the Cross and Crucible, Lariviere teaches for the CCD, is vice-president of the New Hampshire Club and is a member of the Junior Class honors program.

Eugene W. Lariviere

Those officers who will work with Lariviere next year are Richard N. Castonguay, '62, and Robert J. Barile, '63, as vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Castonguay, a B.S. chemistry student from Worcester, was secretary-treasurer of the club this past year. He also is on the Sophomore Prom Prelude Committee.

Barile is from North Arlington, N. J., and is a B.S. chemistry student. Concerning his duties for the next year, Lariviere stated: "The club is well organized and needs no revisions, but I hope to improve it wherever I can. I would like to thank the members for electing me."

Mayor Collins Explains Roving Boston Problem

The Honorable John F. Collins, Mayor of Boston, addressed the student body Tuesday evening in Haberlin auditorium. He spoke on the topic, "The Fight to Revive Boston."

Prior to the speech Michael F. Donlan, '60, president of the Young Democrats Club, presented a key to the city of Worcester to Mayor Collins. Donlan presented the key on behalf of the Honorable James D. O'Brien, Mayor of Worcester, who was unable to attend the talk.

Mayor Collins spoke at length on the problem of urban renewal, citing the disgraceful slum conditions in many of our major cities. Although the number of urban dwellers and farmers are almost equal, dollars spent by the Federal Government in farm subsidies outnumber those invested in urban redevelopment by more than 40 to 1. The proven importance of the American city as a center of transportation, business, and culture demands a greater concern on the part of the citizen for its future. We must cease neglecting problems which beset us here at home; they are every bit as important as our international troubles.

In advocating public service as either a full or part-time vocation for college graduates, Mayor Collins voiced the hope that the coming decade will be a time of vibrant activity in all fields, in opposition to the post-war apathy of his own generation. The mayor emphasized that future leaders will come from the universities, not from business.

Mayor Collins spoke optimistically of the future of Boston. He is confident that the austerity program of this year will enable the city to gain additional sources of tax revenue from the legislature. Boston urgently needs another source of income, preferably in the form of a limited sales tax, to augment its onerous real estate tax. The real estate assessment taxes unequally and prevents private investment.

The mayor boasted that his administration in its first 105 days of office had done more toward achieving fiscal stability for Boston than any other in a comparable period. Mayor Collins reported that several firms which had moved to outlying districts of Boston were returning to the city. As an indication of Boston's renewed strength the mayor also cited the several millions of dollars of road building and housing construction now under way.

Buckley Advocates New Ethical Norms To Raise Education

iences of others and of the major fields of specification. Its purpose is to equip the individual with the ability and desire to exercise his intellectual powers.

He conceded that these aims and goals were incontestable, but that they were incomplete.

What we need in addition is a method of combining educational elements to civilizing ones. We need to direct the fruits of education into productive channels. To do this we must readopt the rational aims of education.

The powers of ethical and rational certitude given students should then provide us with a group of men who could face changing circumstances.

Freshmen Release Weekend Schedule For Picnic, Dance

Henry J. Feeley, '63, chairman of the Freshman Picnic, announced that the freshmen will have their picnic at the Northboro Rod and Gun Club on May 7 between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m.

HC Nine Fashions Four Game Streak; Green, Lord Jeffs, Ephs, Redmen Fall

Streaky but often superb pitching was backed by pitchers' hitting as the Holy Cross baseball forces took their first four games this season. Gene Malinowski and lefty Jack Szeigis were the only two hurlers used by Coach Jack Barry in the four games, and they both came through with commendable performances on the mound and in the batter's box.

Completing their best first week of action in many years, the Crusaders scalped the UMass Redmen this past Tuesday, 12-3, down on Fitton Field. The Cross wasted no time grabbing a lead for hurler-batter Szeigis, who threw a four-hitter, while picking up three blows himself. The Crusaders hung up six runs in the first frame, and then scored in every inning except the sixth and eighth.

Kenny Komodzinski singled to left and moved to second when Ron Gwozdz walked. Johnny Allen flied to center, but Richie Skinner rifled a single to left bringing home Komodzinski. Lou Pannella's single to center, that was bobbled by Armand Sabourin, allowed Gwozdz to score, Skinner to move to third, and Pannella to continue on to second.

Malkasian Walks

Paul Malkasian greeted reliever Ed Connolly with the first of his four walks, loading the bases. When the Redmen attempted a double play on Kray's roller to second, Malkasian broke that up, Skinner scoring. Gaffney's grounder to third was thrown high to first, and the bases were still loaded.

Szeigis came up with the first of his three singles, bringing home Kray, and making it 6-0. Single runs were tallied in the second and third frames, with two runs coming across in the fourth. Two more solo scores were registered in the fifth and seventh innings.

"Wagons" Wheels and Deals

Last Saturday the Crusaders got off to a shaky start against Williams, but behind the strong pitching of "Wagons" Malinowski, chalked up win number three at Williams, 6-3.

The Ephs stepped into Malinowski's offerings for three runs and seven hits in the first three frames. However, the junior righthander re-

The host Ephs picked up a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but HC came back with three runs in the top of the third. With one down, Malinowski lined a triple to center. Komodzinski walked, and both rode home on Ron Gwozdz's double to left. Gwozdz stole third, and scored on Johnny Allen's sacrifice fly.

A three-run uprising in the fifth provided the winning margin for HC.

"Hall Of Fame" Inductions, Student Awards Will Be Made At V.C. Banquet Tomorrow

by Henry Kiernan

Tomorrow night the Holy Cross Varsity Club honors six former Crusader greats with induction into the HC Hall of Fame, at its sixth annual dinner in Kimball Hall. The induction will bring the membership roster to twenty-six. Four of the six being honored will attend.

Other awards will be presented to former Crusader athletes for their success in high school coaching, in addition to awards for three students now here. The toastmaster will be Tom Dowd, Road Secretary of the Red Sox, and an HC alumnus. "Gus" Cervini is chairman of the affair.

Selected by a special VC committee for pre-1914 awards were Rt. Rev. Monsignor William J.

Fox, '00, Pete Noonan, '06, and Daniel Mahoney, '12. All three will be in attendance at the banquet.

Crusaders of more recent years selected by alumni balloting were Will "Rosy" Ryan, '20, Dr. Martin B. Murray, '33, and the late Johnny Turco, '52. Mr. Ryan's award will be accepted by ex-N. Y. Giant "Jumping Joe" Ryan. Peter Turco, brother, will accept the award for Johnny. Dr. Murray will attend. James "Skip" Dowd, '79, himself a Hall of Fame member and president of the Varsity Club, will present the awards.

High School Champs

Classmates Charles "Buzz" Harvey and Tony Morandos, '35, coaches of the New Hampshire State Champion Nashua High School football and basketball squads, lead off the list to be honored.

Nick Morris, '36, Pittsfield High, Wally Sheridan, '50, Salem High, and Chet Millett, '53, of Brockton H. S., all coached their grid squads to undefeated seasons. John Skarzynski, '51, led Smith Academy to the Western Massachusetts hoop title.

Student Awards

"Crusader of the Year" award will go to Charlie Pacunas, captain of the football and co-captain of the lacrosse teams this year. The Jim Davitt Award for "Lineman of the Year" will go to Ken Desmarais, grid captain-elect for 1960. Jackie Foley will receive the George Kaftan Award as "Most Valuable Player" of the basketball team.

Harriers Swamp Lord Jeffs; Freshmen Clock 3:20.5 Mile

While the varsity track team was setting Amherst back on their heels with a 94-41 win, the freshman mile relay team was recording the fastest time ever for an HC frosh quartet.

In the varsity meet, Eric Tait was high man with 15 points, scoring firsts in the 100-yard dash, and both hurdles. Pete Smith, who usually runs the 880, dropped to the 220 and garnered that blue ribbon. Dave Daly, with two seconds and a third place finish, was second high scorer.

Junior Alex Guyette was a surprise victor in the quarter-mile with Don Michalski and Smith finishing a few strides behind. Middle distance-men Jay Bowers, Dave Handron and Michalski ran a dead heat for their specialty, the 880.

Other varsity victors were Terry Byron in the broad jump with a leap of 20' 3" and Vinnie Promuto, winner of the discus and shot put. He put the shot 48'.

Queens-Iona Meet

At Randall's Island in New York, the freshman quartet of Tom Noering, Tom Hennessey, Jack O'Connor and Chuck Buchta, gave an ample account of themselves in the Queens-Iona Relays. The quartet finished third in the mile relay, but their time of 3:20.5 is the fastest frosh time on record at HC.

Meanwhile, also at the Q-I meet, prospective Olympian Dick Wotruba scored a third in his specialty, the decathlon, behind 1958 National's champ Charlie Spratt and Mike Herman, both of the Philadelphia and New York Pioneer Clubs. Wotruba won the 400 and 1,500 meter races.

NE All-Stars' Rally Falls Short As SW Stars Win By 58-57

Closing out the 1959-60 intramural basketball season, the All-Star game was won by the South-West All-Stars, 58-57, over the North-East squad. Coached by Timmy Shea, the winners coasted to a 24-15 halftime lead.

However, in the last half, Barry Bocklett came off the bench to light a rallying spark under the N-E five. Taps, jumps and drives were in Bocklett's repertoire as he hooped 12 quick points to cut the lead to one point with three minutes left.

The lead jockeyed back and forth, with the Blaneymen never gaining the upper hand. "Dutch" Leonard and Billy Hynes threw in several clutch hoops, while Johnny Power sparkled on defense for the Timmy Shea-coached S-W stars.

The Sheamen received a jolt with 6:48 left in the first half when Jimmy McCarthy, driving in for a layup, tumbled over Andy McGuire and had to leave the game. McCarthy, a freshman, won the 'murals scoring title this year.

Purple Pennings

by Paul Robbins, Sports Editor

Concluding the heaviest balloting for the Holy Cross Varsity Club Hall of Fame, six men were selected for induction into the athletic gallery of past heroes. Three men were chosen for a pre-1914 era, with three, instead of the usual two, being picked for the post-1914 era. The Varsity Club's sixth annual dinner tomorrow night will witness the bestowal of honors on the sextet. These six will join such well known Crusader athletic 'greats' as Bob Cousy, Willie Turnesa, 'Hop' Riopel, Jack Barry, and sixteen others.

Pre-1914 . . .

Rt. Rev. Monsignor William J. Fox, '00, leads the list of newly selected members. A native of Westbury, Conn., and known as "Big Bill" during his playing days at HC, Msgr. Fox joined the varsity nine while he was still a member of HC's prep school. Included in his stay here were two years when he captained the team (1897 and 1898) and six years of active duty at third base. In his six years here, the team won 106, lost 38, and tied 2. Shortly after receiving his degree in 1900, he entered the seminary, turning down several professional offers.

Peter J. Noonan, '06, was a star catcher for the Crusaders from 1901 through 1904 inclusively. Recently retired from his post as manager of the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, Noonan was another varsity member while still in prep school. He captained the 1904 contingent, and after that season he signed with the Philadelphia Athletics.

After starring for four years at Lewiston, Maine, High School, Dan Mahoney, '12, entered the Cross in 1908. Despite the fact that he never weighed more than 136 pounds, Mahoney made the varsity football, track, and baseball teams in his freshman year. He was the regular quarterback for 1908-10, and directed the Purple attack in the Fitton Field inaugural against Dartmouth in 1908. On the cinders, he equalled the 40-yard dash record. Also playing with the baseball team in the spring, Mahoney played third base. After captaining the 1910 team (his sophomore year), he signed with the Cincinnati Reds after the first two games of the 1911 season. He recently retired from his post as Registrar at Hamilton College.

Post-1914 . . .

Turning to the post-1914 period, Wilfred 'Rosy' Ryan, '20, Dr. Martin B. Murray, '33, and Johnny Turco, '52, helped change precedent his year. Ordinarily two representatives are chosen, but due to the heavy alumni voting, the trio of HC heroes were picked.

Ryan, the current manager of the Tacoma Giants (Pacific Coast League), and a resident of Worcester, was one of the greatest pitchers of the World War I era. During his freshman year he won nine of eleven decisions as HC won the mythical Eastern Championship. The 1918 season saw him hang up a 16-2 record, while pitching the first no-hit, no-run game down on Fitton Field. Dartmouth was the victim, on May 30. Following his sophomore year he signed with the then New York Giants. After ceasing his playing activities with the Jints, he moved into an executive post, and has been with them ever since. He started his diamond career with St. Paul's Altar Boys, and continued it at South High before entering HC.

Presently a surgeon in Springfield, Dr. Murray picked up six letters at Holy Cross, three each in football and baseball. In his three years on the gridiron, the Crusaders never lost a game to BC. He was the star of HC's upset 27-0 win over Harvard in 1930. He was the leading hitter for baseball teams that won 42 and lost 15 games.

The late, great Johnny Turco was another grid-diamond ace. A speedy halfback in football, he won the 1950 O'Melia Award for his play (four TDs worth) in the 32-14 conquest of BC. In 1951 he received All-American recognition. The leading hitter of the 1952 NCAA championship baseball squad, Johnny played in the Braves minor league organization after graduation. He passed away last month.

These six bring the total membership of the Hall of Fame to twenty-six. In order to be eligible for membership, an athlete has to be graduated five years from the year of his selection. To say the least, congratulations on the post certainly deserved, gentlemen.

Tennis Captain Franco Lauds Sharry; Brennan Sees Outlook Bright On Links

The aura of success which hovers over Holy Cross' tennis and golf teams early this spring is particularly noticeable in the optimism displayed by Tito Franco and Jeff Brennan, the respective captains of the small-ball sports.

Juan "Tito" Franco is a bundle of energy on the court. His sharp, snappy brand of tennis has been lauded by his opponents, as well as his teammates.

"Tito" is a native of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and spent all his younger days on the tropical island. While at St. Ignatius Loyola High School in the island's capital, Tito didn't play too much tennis. The summers, however, proved to be a different story.

This year for the first time at Holy Cross, the Crusaders are enjoying the services of a full-time coach. As Tito puts it, "Mr. Sharry is a constant help to us. He brings out the best in his team."

The loquacious senior continued in the tennis vein, "The team is a wonderful satisfaction. We look like winners, and the depth we possess will never hurt us. If we can capture our matches with Trinity next weekend, we would enjoy the best season ever recorded at Holy Cross."

Quite a gulf exists between the confines of a tennis court and the spaciousness of a fairway. Since, however, there is a success story to be told concerning the long ball whackers which easily equals the exploits of the netmen, a bond of relationship can be established.

Jeff Brennan, the tall, tanned golf captain from Richmond, Virginia's Benedictine H.S., is brimming with a healthy optimism concerning his squad's future. "We are in good shape. Even though the weather has handicapped us, we still have won three good matches. If we keep it up, and we should, the end of the season might find Holy Cross back on top of the New England golf picture."

Frosh Nine Upends Redmen In Twelve; Foley Wins Opener

On Tuesday afternoon the Frosh baseball team defeated the UMass Frosh in 12 innings, 7-6, to open the Cubs' season.

Barry Tyne opened up the second with a walk but was caught attempting to steal. Don Reidl walked, reached second on a passed ball and was singled home by Tony Capo. Morano's ground ball was muffed by the UMass third sacker, and Bill Prizio singled them both home.

Action picked up again in the bottom half of the sixth frame. An error by shortstop Morano put the UMass leadoff man, Krukoni, on first. Back-to-back singles by O'Brien and Hughes brought home Krukoni with the Redmen's first tally. The inning ended when the next two batters struck out.

In the top of the seventh Reidl walked, as did Morano, and Gene Corbett drove them both across with a single. UMass came back with a run on an error by Corbett and a double by Schmoyer.

UMass scored again in the eighth on two walks and a double by Del Vecchio. In the ninth UMass tied it up on singles by Krukoni and Simone, a triple by Hughes and a single by O'Brien. Bob Foley relieved Reidl.

The twelfth inning saw the Crusaders score the winning run on a walk to Peterman, a single by Tyne and a sacrifice fly by Bob Foley. A single by Laricin was wasted and UMass became the first victim of the Crusader frosh.

Ronnie Gwozdz, Charlie Kray Provide Diamondmen's Strength Up The Middle

by Don Magilligan

Baseball is a sport in which countless proverbs on fundamentals seem to abound and are far more numerous than the complexity of the game demands. But whether expressed by the esoteric grumblings of Casey Stengel or the proud comments of a Little League father there's one which holds fairly accurately—"A ball club's strength lies up the middle." On this year's Crusader team the two most important positions of this strength lie in the hands of Charlie Kray and Ronnie Gwozdz.

Charlie Kray hails from Maplewood, N. J., where he was a three sport athlete at Seton Hall Prep. In addition to his diamond chores, Charlie played basketball and football and was an All-State selection in football as well as basketball.

Shortstop Comments

Commenting on the team's success so far, Charlie points to pitching and defense as the key and adds that the team has "more hustle and is a lot more on the go. We've jelled very well and after four wins we have a lot more confidence."

This is not the first time the picture of Ron Gwozdz has appeared in the CRUSADER. You may have seen him before as the co-star of the Senior Musical, or, more recently, as the Senior Ball chairman. But however efficient a chairman he may be or however convincing an actor, while swinging a bat he is pictured in his strongest role by far.

Centerfielder Comments

Ron is an A.B. pre-dental major from Chicopee, Mass. In high school he starred in basketball and played baseball on a team that copped the Mass. State title in his Junior year.

Ron feels that this year's club will go as far as the pitching carries it. He points to the lusty Crusader hitting attack as the big surprise so far in view of the scarcity of outdoor practice. Going as far out on a limb as is allowed this early in the season, he hopefully concluded, "I'm looking forward to the trip to Omaha."

Techmen, Hatch Fall To JV, Frosh Lacrossemen

The Crusader JV and freshman lacrosse outfits met with much more success this week than did the varsity, pinning a double defeat on Hatch School of Providence, and on cross-town rival, Worcester Tech. The JV is now 2-0, the frosh 1-0.

Hatch fell to the JV squad Wednesday on the hill, and to the frosh in the first half of a twin-bill. The JV squad ran up a 10-1 margin, while the frosh won theirs, 12-3. The JV team conquered WPI, 8-1.

"Skip" Prybylski paced the frosh win, as he flipped in four goals, two on solo flights, and had two assists. Bill Maloney wasn't far behind, with three scores. Penalties hurt Hatch in the Crusader five-score third period.

The depleted JV squad pitted its sophomore stalwarts against the Hatch JV men. Scoring was fairly evenly split, with Dick Schreyer, Bob Hurley, and Joe Antonecchia cashing a pair apiece.

Engineers Romped

WPI invaded the Hilltoppers' stamping grounds Tuesday, and found the Purple defenses too strong, as the JV men ran off with an 8-1 victory. Joe Corr paced the Crusader attack with a trio of scores, while Bob Foley kept the nets well tended after an early Engineer solo score.

RAMBLINGS

Final results have been tabulated for the All-East team that the CRUSADER took up recently . . . over 110 sports editors of papers of colleges belonging to the ECAC were contacted, with about 57 returning ballots . . . battling for the top spot were Lenny Wilkens and Tom Sanders, with Wilkens winning by one vote . . . third spot went to Tom Stith, with Tony Jackson and Bill "Pickles" Kennedy rounding out the top five vote-getters . . . heading the second team was HC's Jackie Foley . . . five votes behind him was Johnny Egan, with Hubie White, Bob McNeill, and Al Butler completing the second club . . . "Top Coach" balloting went to NYU's Lou Rossini, with Joe Mullaney of Providence second . . . NYU captured the "Top Team" race, with Providence finishing second.

Dick Berardino, ace center fielder and top end target for Tommy Greene for two years, returned to Massachusetts last weekend . . . signed by the Yankees following his junior year here, Dick is now playing for Binghamton of the Eastern League (Class A) . . . Ron Liptak, St. Louis Cardinal property, is now with Jacksonville of the Sally League . . . Larry Rancourt is playing for the Redlegs' farm club of the Class AA Texas League, while Hal Deitz, 7-4 at York a year ago, is still there, at last report . . . Bill Spanswick, freshman hurler of three years ago, is now with the Red Sox affiliate in Allentown (Pa.) . . . he was 15-4 with Raleigh of the Class B Carolina League last year . . . Gordon "Moose" Massa is with the Cubs' farm in San Antonio of the Texas League . . . Ron Cote is hurling for the Vancouver nine (Baltimore Orioles farm) in the Class AAA Pacific Coast League.

Dutch Leonard, Yankee bonus baby since last July, took time over the Easter vacation for about ten days of action with their Greensboro farm team, working out at Orangeburg, S. C. . . the 6-5 first-sacker was 7-for-20 during his stay . . . he still doesn't know where he'll be this summer . . . he is currently coaching the HC frosh baseball nine, after having turned down a similar job with the Worcester Academy frosh.

The way things are going, the roster of the Boston Patriots will soon look like a Holy Cross alumni gathering . . . Tommy Greene, Bob Dee and Jim Buonopane have all signed to play, with the possibility of Jim Healy and Charlie Pacunas also joining the ranks . . . there are also about eight ex-Syracuse U. players on the team . . . Boston seems to be going along with the "Patriot" idea . . . the club's offices are on Commonwealth Ave. . . the phone number is CONgress 2-1776.

Last year, for the frosh, Jack Szeigis had an 0.46 ERA (2 earned runs in 39 2/3 innings) and Mike Heneghan had a 1.86 ERA (6 earned scores in 38 1/3 frames).

Tennis, Golf, Yachting Teams Victorious In Initial Matches

Minor sports, continuing the pattern set by the "major" sports—baseball, track, and lacrosse—got off to a rousing start over the past two weeks. The tennis team downed its first two opponents with little difficulty and yesterday BU became their third victim, 7-2.

Journeying to Wellesley on Monday, the HC netmen defeated Babson Institute, 6-3. Jack Sinnott, John McLean, Bob Graham, and Dave Driscoll were victorious in singles, but Gerry Seitz and captain Tito Franco dropped close matches. The doubles tandems of Sinnott-McLean and Graham-Seitz garnered the final two points, to clean up the scoring.

The next day, the racqueteers entertained New Bedford Tech. Sinnott, McLean, Graham, Whelan and Franco won singles matches.

Another of the minor sports, yachting, now has its season in full swing. Competing against six other schools at the Coast Guard Academy, the Purple mariners finished first in the four-man crew division, compiling an 11-point advantage over their nearest rival. Dan McCann, Bill Collins, Jim Brennan, and Dan Mullin were HC's crew.

In a dual race, the Crusader sailors didn't fare so well against BC. McCann again skippered for the Cross, with John O'Sullivan, Joe Sullivan, and his brother Steve.

The golf team opened up its season this Monday by defeating Fairfield, 8-2. Doug Hoyt and Dick Saab posted low scores of 74. Captain Jeff Brennan and Dick Connolly matched their 74's in a triangular meet with BC and PC, HC winning, 4-3 and 7-0 respectively.

One More for Richie:

Komo walked, and then moved around on an error and a wild pitch. Gwzodz scored on Allen's single to left, and Kray batted in Allen.

Traveling to Amherst a week ago yesterday, the Crusaders slithered past the Lord Jeffs, 7-6, thanks to a four-run ninth inning, featuring Richie Skinner's line single to center with one out.

Hurler Szeigis got on by an error. With one down, two walks and an error set the stage for Skinner's hit.

Season Opener

Dartmouth opened the season a week ago Tuesday, Patriot's Day. Malinowski was on the hill for HC, and he turned in a four-hit, seven-strikeout victory, 4-0.

The first three innings were uneventful, save for Denny Gaffney's triple over the running track. But in the HC fourth, back-to-back doubles by Skinner and Allen produced one run. Kray's single scored Allen.

The third and fourth runs crossed the plate in the sixth. Allen led off with his second double, and continued to third when shortstop Chuck Kaufman muffed the throw-in. Kray walked, and a double steal made it 3-0, HC. Kray scored on Malinowski's single to left.

Harvard Stickmen Spoil HC's Opener

The 1960 edition of the Holy Cross lacrosse team ushered in its season on a sorry note, as the Crusaders were trounced, 21-9, by Harvard at Cambridge Wednesday. The game was only a contest for one period.

In the second period, the Crimson, leading 6-4, gained complete control, outscoring the Purple 7-1, for a 13-5 halftime lead. In the final stages of the game the Purple settled down, but Harvard still maintained an 8-4 edge in the scoring column.

The passing combination of Grady Watts and Dave Bohn accounted for 12 goals, which was more than enough to sink the Crusaders. The Crimson displayed superb passing, sharp shooting, and a stalwart defense in capturing their eighth win in ten outings.

Inexperience Decisive

The advantage of a nine-game edge in experience may have some significance in the wide difference in the score, but one cannot overlook the Crusaders' sputtering offense and sleepy defense.

Those who stood out on a particularly gloomy field included Matt Kenney, who tallied three times, co-captains Charlie Pacunas and John Giza, who scored two apiece, and solo scorers Bill Heaphy and Frankie "Half-Man" Caprice. Joe Corr also impressed with his passing.

It is interesting to note that the loss was the first suffered by any HC team thus far this spring. Holy Cross has never pinned a defeat on these Cantabs in the three games the teams have played to date. Last year HC lost, 8-6.

EUROPE MADE SIMPLE: No. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess I have never been to Europe myself, but I eat a lot of Scotch broth and French dressing, so I am not entirely without qualification.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Lichtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The capital of England is London—or Liverpool, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly, the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Another "must" while in London is a visit to Buckingham Palace. Frequently in the afternoons Her Majesty the Queen comes out on the balcony of the palace and waves to her loyal subjects below. The loyal subjects wave back at the Queen. However, they only continue to wave as long as Her Majesty is waving. This of course is the origin of wave lengths from which we have derived numerous benefits including radio, television and the A&P Gypsies.

Be sure also when you are in London to visit the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint but terribly disorganized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Jo's Boys, fought all his life to simplify English spelling. He once asked a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?" The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw sniggered. "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish. Gh as in enough, o as in women, ti as in motion."

It must be remembered, however, that Shaw was a vegetarian—which, all in all, was probably a good thing. As Disraeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who knows flavor did not go out when filters came in. Be sure you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sightseeing, there is nothing so welcome as a fine, flavorful Marlboro and a foot bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens, Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall, Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

Well sir, now you know all you need to know about England. Next week we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

And you also know all you need to know about smoking: Marlboro, if you want the best of the filter cigarettes—Philip Morris if you want the best of the unfiltered cigarettes.

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood declares:

Graduation is all a matter of degree

This airplane is actually a flying classroom. The course taught in it is Air Navigation, under real conditions. The students are young men who have been selected as possible future leaders of the Aerospace Team. Graduation after 32 weeks of training will win each of the students the honored silver wings of an Air Force Navigator and an Officer's Commission.

For certain young men, this training can open the way to a bright career of executive potential. Right now the Air Force is scoring impressive technological advances in the fields of navigation, guidance and tracking, electronics and radar. And here is where its highly trained and experienced Navigators will be expected to take over command positions of increasing responsibility.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet, you must be between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. And you must want to build an exciting, interesting career in the Aerospace Age. If you think you measure up, we'd like to talk to you at the nearest Air Force Recruiting Office. Or clip and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Dear Dr. Frood: I'm working my way through college. I have delivered newspapers, worked as an usher in the local movie theater and rolled bandages for the school infirmary. What can my college life possibly prepare me for?

Beaver

Dear Beaver: Publishing, motion pictures, medicine.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am about to graduate top girl in my class. I have decided to take up a career, rather than squander my intellectual achievements on bawling babies, dreary housework and a sloppy husband. Don't you think I have made the right decision?

Smart Gal

Dear Smart: I do, and I feel safe in saying that I make that statement on behalf of every man in America.

Dear Dr. Frood: What a mess I have made out of college! I am flunking out because I have been so lazy. I can't get a job because I have made such a poor record. I have no friends because I have no college spirit. What is there left for me?

Chastened

Dear Chastened: You can always serve as a horrible example.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was outraged to learn that a rich, spoiled senior is planning to give sports cars as graduation presents to all the friends he has made in college. Is there any action I should take?

Dean

Dear Dean: Give him a big smile, put your arm around his shoulders and say, "How're things, pal?"

Dear Dr. Frood: In the past four years, I feel that I have become a wiser and better man. How much do I owe to my college for this?

Grateful

Dear Grateful: Shhh! Somebody must have forgotten to send you the bill.

Dear Dr. Frood: The older generation claims college life is too soft. Just a lark. Well, I am finishing four years, and look! The day I enrolled in college, the photo-

Serious Student

Dear Serious: Just what we've said all along. Parties, parties, parties!

Dear Dr. Frood: Yesterday I visited my boy friend and I saw two Lucky Strikes burning in an ash tray. One had lipstick! Was I right in slapping him in the face and leaving the room?

Scorned

Dear Scorned: No. Why get jealous just because other girls smoke the same brand you do?

COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE MORE LUCKIES THAN ANY OTHER REGULAR!

When it comes to choosing their regular smoke, college students head right for fine tobacco. Result: Lucky Strike tops every other regular sold. Lucky's taste beats all the rest because L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.
